

FEDERAL AID BILL BACK TO COMMITTEE

The Federal Aid to Education measure, Senate Bill S. 637, was recommitted to the Senate Committee on Education and Labor after a debate which lasted intermittently from October 12 to October 20. The motion to send the bill back to Committee where its foes hoped it would be pigeon-holed came after an amendment by Senator Langer of North Dakota had been approved by a close vote of 40-37. The amendment read as follows: "Provided that there shall be no discrimination in the administration of the benefits and appropriations made under the respective provisions of this act or in the state funds supplemented thereby on account of race, creed, or color."

The words "in the state funds supplemented thereby" were, of course, not italicized in the amendment, but it is the inclusion of these words which sent the bill back to the Committee. This Federal Aid Bill would provide $8,042,234.00 in funds for education in Missouri.

The sponsors of the bill in the Senate, Senator Elbert D. Thomas of Utah, and Senator Lister Hill of Alabama, developed the case of this measure with great skill and courage. The fight against S. 637 was led by Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Senator Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri voted for the Langer Amendment and against sending the measure back to the committee. Senator Harry S. Truman was absent during the voting.

The Federal Aid Bill is not dead. The fight will be carried forward vigorously in the House of Representatives to obtain a hearing on H.R. 2849 which is the companion bill to S. 637.

WAR SAVINGS TEACHING AIDS

Teachers have been on the alert for ways by which to relate their regular classroom activities to current affairs including War Finance. To meet requests for such classroom suggestions, leading educators have prepared a number of teaching aids for the War Finance Division of the Treasury Department, where free copies are available on request:

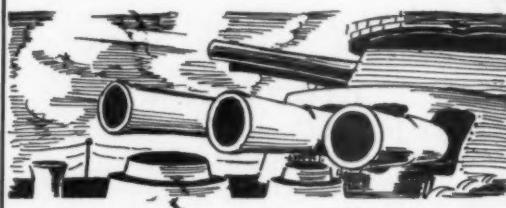

The Teacher of English and the War Savings Program, bulletin with units of study for junior and senior high school, showing how the English class through its work in speech, drama, research, discussion, debate, and journalism may contribute to greater understanding of the reasons for War Savings investments. Prepared by the National Council of Teachers of English.

The Teacher of Mathematics and the War Savings Program with suggested problems for grades 3-11 in mathematics and business arithmetic. Simple addition and subtraction as well as fractions, percentage, and budgeting will become more vital when related to the purchase of Stamps and Bonds. Prepared by W. W. Hart, Veryl Schult, and Violet Coldren, leading textbook authors.

New Songs for Schools-at-War, parodies and songs with original melodies by pupils from the kindergarten through high school.
